NEW QUESTION: 1Your company has a private cloud that is managed by using a System Center 2012 infrastructure. You install the servers shown in the following table. The company's compliance department identifies the following tasks that must be performed: Back up individual files from VM1. Back up the configuration settings of VM1. Restore the configuration settings of VM1. Restore individual files from VM1 to an alternate location. The compliance department administrators recommend installing the DPM agent on Server1, and then performing a full backup. You need to identify which task is NOT met by the recommended solution. Which task should you identify? A. Back up the configuration settings of VM1. B. Restore the configuration settings of VM1. C. Restore individual files from VM1 to an alternate location. D. Back up individual files from VM1. Answer: B Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: In the event of disaster recovery, System Center Data Protection Manager (DPM) 2010 allows you to recover virtual machines as files to a network folder. You can then copy those files to an alternate Hyper-V host server. However, to start a virtual machine on an alternate Hyper-V host server, you have to manually create and configure the virtual machine using the recovered files. DPM 2010 supports alternate location recovery (ALR), which allows you to recover a Hyper-V virtual machine to an alternate stand-alone Hyper-V host or to a cluster. The recovered virtual machine is already registered and configured on an alternate Hyper-V host server. <http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/ff634209.aspx> In a virtualized environment the issue is whether to backup from inside the guest or from the host. The latter provides "bare metal restore" of an entire VM where something's gone catastrophically wrong with a VM (or the host) but in general it doesn't provide granular restore of files / folders. DPM 2010 added Item Level Restore (ILR), allowing you to restore individual files or folders within a VM even though it had only been backed up from the host. But this capability was only available when DPM 2010 ran on physical hardware, if the DPM server itself was in a VM this capability was not available. DPM 2012 fixes this glitch and can now do ILR even when the DPM server is a VM. <http://4sysops.com/archives/dpm-2012-part-3-other-improvements/>

NEW QUESTION: 3Which three routing protocols utilize TLVs? (Choose three.) A. OSPF B. EIGRP

C. RIPD. IS-ISE. ODRF. BGP
Answer: B,D,F
Explanation: IS-IS, originally designed for Open System Interconnection (OSI) routing, uses TLV parameters to carry information in Link State Packets (LSPs). The TLVs make IS-IS extendable. IS-IS can therefore carry different kinds of information in the LSPs. Several routing protocols use TLVs to carry a variety of attributes. Cisco Discovery Protocol (CDP), Label Discovery Protocol (LDP), and Border Gateway Protocol (BGP) are examples of protocols that use TLVs. BGP uses TLVs to carry attributes such as Network Layer Reachability Information (NLRI), Multiple Exit Discriminator (MED), and local Preference. The IP header of the EIGRP packet specifies IP protocol number 88 within it, and the maximum length of the packet will be the IP MTU of the interface on which it is transmitted, most of the time 1500 octets. Following the IP header is the various Type/Length/Value (TLV) triplets. These TLVs will not only carry the route entries but also provide fields for the management of the DUAL process, multicast sequencing, and IOS software versions from the router.
