NEW QUESTION: 1You are managing a complex project for a new method of heating and air conditioning in vehicles. You will use both solar and wind technologies in this project to reduce energy costs. Therefore, you must ensure that the work of your project will result in delivering the project's specified scope, which means that you should measure completion of the product scope against the _____
A. Scope management plan
B. Product requirements
C. Project management plan
D. Requirements management plan
Answer: B
Explanation: Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Completion of the project scope is measured against the project management plan, and completion of the product scope is measured against the requirements. In the project context, product scope consists of features and functions that characterize the product, service, or result. Project scope is the work that must be done to deliver the product, service, or result with specified features and functions.

NEW QUESTION: 2Which two statements about configuring VLANs on the Cisco Nexus 7000 platform are true? (Choose two.)
A. VLANs with the same number are unique to their VDC.
B. VLAN licensing is required for use.
C. The command copy running-config startup-config will save changes to the VLAN database.
D. To change VLAN information, the administrator must be at the switch (config) # prompt.
E. Software updates are disruptive to VLANs.
Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION: 3Which of the following is not true of responsibility accounting?
A. The focus of cost center managers will normally be more narrow than that of profit center managers.
B. Managers should only be held accountable for factors over which they have significant influence.
C. Every factor that affects a firm's financial performance ultimately is controllable by someone, even if that someone is the person at the top of the firm.
D. When a responsibility account system exists, operations of the business are organized into separate areas controlled by individual managers.
Answer: C
Explanation:Responsibility accounting stresses that managers are responsible only for factors under their control. For this purpose, the operations of the business are organized into responsibility centers. Costs are classified as controllable and uncontrollable. This implies that some revenues and costs can be changed through effective management. Management may then focus on deviations for either reinforcement or correction. Thus, the statement that every factor is ultimately controllable by someone is not a premise of responsibility accounting.
