NEW QUESTION: 1 Yes or No: The number of marks will increase when you increase the number of Dimensions in a view
A. No
B. Yes
Answer: B
Explanation: Explanation Of course! As an example, see below:
1) Using the Sample Superstore data, let's plot a bar chart showing the Sales for each Category: Observe that we have 3 marks - Each bar in a bar chart is called a mark. Similarly, each point in a scatter plot is also a mark, and so on for all charts.
1 row by 3 columns means that clearly on the y-axis (Sales), we have only a single mark - a single continuous axis, but 3 different marks (Technology, Furniture and Office supplies) on the x-axis.
2) Now let's add subcategory to the view as well (another dimension): Observe that the number of marks has increased - i.e the number of Bars. Also, notice we now have 1 row and 17 columns. Simply because 1 row = Sales (on the y-axis), and on the x-axis, we have 17 different columns (i.e product sub categories!!)

NEW QUESTION: 2 A customer has established an Oracle Cloud Infrastructure (OCI) FastConnect connection to OCI. The virtual circuit is up and routes are being advertised from the customer's end, however the customer is unable to ping from compute instances inside the virtual cloud network (VCN) to servers residing in its on-premises data center. Which two options on OCI would remedy this situation? (Choose two.)
A. Modify the security list associated with the VCN subnet in which the instance resides. Add a stateful egress rule to allow ICMP traffic to the customer's on-premises network.
B. Modify the security list associated with the VCN subnet in which the instance resides. Add a stateful ingress rule to allow ICMP traffic from anywhere.
C. Modify the route table associated with the VCN subnet in which the instance resides. Add a route to the customer's on-premises network via the Dynamic Routing Gateway (DRG).
D. Modify the default VCN route table to add a route back to the customer's on-premises network via the DRG.
Answer: B,D

NEW QUESTION: 3 A. Option C B. Option A C. Option D D. Option B
Answer: B,C,D

NEW QUESTION: 4 What is a primary function of an underlay network?
A. to advertise client host routes into an overlay network
B. to advertise Internet routes into an overlay network
C. to advertise loopback interfaces to establish an overlay network
D. to advertise server interfaces to establish an overlay network
